DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 – 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 – 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are:

Regarding claims 1, 7 and 19, it is unclear as to how the fine channel substrate and fluid supply devices are fluidically connected. The claim does not recite that the fine channels are also arranged in a radial configuration so as to align with the supply channels of the fluid supply device. The figures indicate that the claimed device is disk-shaped which is not completely recited in the claims. The claimed structure is broader in scope to what is disclosed in the specification. The disk-shaped structure appears to be a critical feature of the invention. Furthermore, the use of the term “sandwich” to describe the claimed device structure is unclear. The conventional definition of the term sandwich means a layer inserted between a top layer and a bottom layer, so that there are three layers total. The term sandwich in the claim implies that there are three device layers, e.g., one middle device layer with a device layer positioned on the top surface of the middle device layer and an additional device layer on the bottom surface of the middle device layer. Does the applicant intend to mean that there are just two device layers joined together? In claims drawn to an apparatus statutory class of invention, the structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device (See MPEP § 2172.01). Furthermore, a feature that is taught as critical in the specification should be recited in the claims (see MPEP § 2164.08c).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Claims 1 – 4, 7, 9 – 11, 13, 14, 17, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kellogg et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6,582,662 B1) (“Kellogg”).

Regarding claims 1 – 4, 7, 9 – 11, 13, 14, 17, 19 and 20, Kellogg teaches a disk-shaped microfluidic system 100 comprising at least two component layers: a reservoir layer 201 and a microfluidics layer 301 with various channels and port structures that are fluidically connected when the layers are mated and bonded together (see, e.g., col. 17, line 28 – col. 23, line 60; figures 1 – 7F). Kellogg teaches the incorporation of fluid pumps for transferring sample fluids to and from the microfluidics system (see, e.g., col. 3, lines 31 – 42; col. 11, line 1 – col. 13, line 6).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the present claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional cited prior art teach various pertinent microfluidic systems.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
